Tatshenshini River Expeditions

The Tatshenshini is a classic Alaskan expedition, a pristine alpine river and sister river to the mighty Alsek. Throughout the summer months, the Tatshenshini valley teems with an abundance of wildlife and natural beauty. The rainforest is emerald green and lush with hundreds of varieties of native plant species. The life cycles of many species of Alaskan animals can be observed on the banks of the river.

Seeing moose during the calf-rearing season, spotting a female merganser teaching her ducklings how to dive, or floating past a brown bear gorging itself on salmon are all possible in this remote and untouched part of the world. The river offers a combination of stunning scenery and incredible wildlife creating a pure fantasy right out of a Jack London Novel.

Based in Haines, Alaska, Chilkat Guides is the only local U.S. operator on the Tatshenshini and Alsek. Our local expertise combined with the vast international experience and safety record of our guides makes us the premier guide service on the Tatshenshini and Alsek rivers.

Your trip begins in the Yukon Territory and flows into British Columbia and eventually Glacier Bay National Park and Preserve. The journey reaches its crescendo at Alsek Lake, where the Grand Plateau and Alsek Glaciers descend from high above, carving through massive coastal mountains.

Alsek Lake is a photographer's dream. We will row out among the lake and icebergs to see, hear and become a part of this landscape. The Tatshenshini flows out of the dry Canadian interior at Dalton Post, to its confluence with the Alsek just a few miles upstream of the U.S. Border. The river carves its way through two of the world's most spectacular national parks, Kluane Park in Canada and Glacier Bay Park in Alaska. After the two rivers unite, the Alsek continues to slice through giant mountain ranges on its way to the Gulf of Alaska. For decades the Tatshenshini River has been distinguished as a classic Alaska/Canada transboundary wilderness trip covering approximately 140 miles, following the paths of ancient glaciers. This dynamic landscape is still caught in the clutches of the last ice age. Experience the thunder of massive pieces of glacier calving into the lake, an experience you will never forget!

Itinerary

DAY 1

The first day is reserved for travel and orientation. We will meet at the Hotel Halsingland at 4:00 PM to hand out river bags, review the gear list and answer questions. The rest of the afternoon will be yours to explore our beautiful northern town. If your schedule permits feel free to arrive a day or so early, as there is much to explore in and around Haines. We will have hotel accommodations arranged for the first night of your trip.

DAY 2

Our put-in is located at Dalton Post, Yukon Territory, 110 scenic miles from Haines. The drive up the Haines Highway takes us through the Chilkat Bald Eagle Preserve before ascending out of the coastal valley and into the alpine region.

Wildflowers, jagged mountain peaks and hanging glaciers set the scene as the headwaters of the Tat begin to form. The put-in is located near an outpost along the historic Dalton Trail and close to a First Nation's village of the Champagne-Aishihik people. After lunch and a short river talk we will begin our journey downstream where a five-mile long gorge of class III-IV whitewater awaits us. The river then slows as it meanders through the thick, forested valley.

DAYS 3-6

The river picks up pace as it increases exponentially in volume from the many tributaries pouring into it. The valley floor also opens up, creating an array of braided river channels and unobstructed wildlife viewing.

DAYS 7-10

As we approach the confluence of the Tatshenshini and the Alsek rivers, keep scanning the land for mountain goats peering down from a rocky precipice or bears ambling along the riverbanks looking for food. The scenery perpetually inspires the soul as the river, mountains and space continue to become larger and larger. We will have the opportunity to camp at the base of, and possibly walk on the Walker Glacier. Nearing the conclusion of the trip it is easy to think that the experience couldn't get any better. But wait! The grand finale of Alsek Lake and its unequivocal beauty lies ahead. We will spend our last days here below the towering 15,000-foot Mt. Fairweather and amongst building-sized icebergs. The last morning we give our farewells to Alsek Lake and float down to Dry Bay where our chartered flight will shuttle us to Yakutat. Our trip officially ends here, but the memories will last forever!

What's Included

Included in this expedition is transportation to the put-in, a bush flight at Dry Bay, all food on the river, a shared tent, sleeping bag and pad, life jacket, heavy-duty seam sealed rubber rain gear, rubber boots with felt insoles, heavy-duty rubber gloves, two dry bags and an optional camera box (military ammo can).

Expert Leadership

Each year we work to make our expedition trips a safe, fun and memorable time for you our guests. It is our guides' love for their jobs and love for the beauty of the wonders surrounding us that makes Chilkat Guides a top pick for expedition rafting trips. We exceed all safety standards and our guides are some of the most talented and qualified rafters in the business.

River Expedition Frequently Asked Questions:

What kind of travelers go on river expeditions?

All age groups enjoy our expeditions! There are avid rafters who have been rafting for many years and then there are those who are experiencing rafting trips for the first time. Come with a group of friends or come alone and make new friends.

How would you rate the difficulty of the trip?

Rivers are classed on a scale of I – V. Class I is a float trip and Class V is big whitewater. Our expeditions are mostly Class II float trips with occasional Class III rapids.

What watercraft do you use?

We use 18 foot inflatable rafts. Similar to large canoes, inflatable rafts are slower on the river but more suitable for traveling on rivers. These are the safest craft to use for this region. Four guests are carried in each raft oared by one experienced guide.

Who does the rowing?

There is one guide per raft and usually at least three rafts per expedition and the guides do the rowing. You are free to relax, take photos and soak in the scenery and wildlife! We always have paddles available for anyone who wishes to paddle.

How long are we on the river each day?

Each day varies, but when we are moving down river we'll typically spend about four to six hours in the rafts. Don't worry, we'll pull over for bathroom stops, breaks, hikes, lunches and just to stop and view the wildlife. Additionally, we'll schedule "lay-over" days where we won't be moving down-stream, rather just staying in one spot for two nights to allow for the incredible bigger hikes or bigger scenery experiences.

Where do we sleep?

All our expeditions are camping adventures that require you to sleep in tents. We provide you with a top quality, free standing expedition tent. These are based on double occupancy and if you would like a tent to yourself, please let us know.

What should I bring?

You provide your personal gear and we provide the rest: top-quality tents, river gear, kitchen and camping equipment and bus plane transportation. We've included a detailed equipment list that lists the items you are responsible for as well as the items we have available for rent.

What do we eat?

We have three guidelines for our nutritious and delicious food selection: quality, quantity and variety. If you have special needs or desire a copy of our detailed menu descriptions, please let us know. With advanced notice, we can accommodate most special dietary requirements. Snacks and treats are provided but if you have any favorites feel free to bring some along.

What type of wildlife will we see?

Depending on what trip you are on, you may see different wildlife. You are more likely to see more bears on the Alsek and more moose on the Tat. Other wildlife you may see are Dall sheep, mountain goats, wolves, lynx, wolverine, ducks, geese, swans, eagles, falcons, hawks and salmon.

Are bears a concern?

By keeping our camp area clean we are able to keep unwanted visitors out of our camp site. We also set up our campsite in a way that leaves a "wildlife corridor" next to the river for wildlife that is passing through. When we go for hikes, we hike in groups of at least four people, and make noise – especially in areas of dense brush.

What about personal hygiene?

Hand washing before eating or assisting in food prep and after visiting the toilet facilities is essential. The usual shower system is the bucket and bowl method. Water will be heated over the fire and poured into a five-gallon bucket. You can then take your bucket and bowl to a private area for an improvised shower/bath.

Is there time for hiking?

There are some amazing hikes on our expeditions! Hikes are lead regularly by guides and all are invited to come along. We will keep your hiking boots in a dry bag that stays with the boat you are riding on that day.

How hard is the trip and who can go?

It is difficult to quantify the difficulty or ease of any experience, but a few examples may be helpful. We have had people in their seventies as well as those as young as 12 years. We try to gear the pace to accommodate a wide variety of abilities. Attitude tends to be the main criterion, so come prepared to relax and enjoy the Great North.

What about bugs?

Populations of mosquitoes on the Asek, Tatshenshini and Kongakut vary with temperature, rain fall and wind. As they are in semi-alpine or well drained areas, generally we try to choose campsites that have a slight breeze to be as “mosquito free” as possible. However, on occasion we may be unable to avoid them. In these situations, you will be glad to have mosquito repellent and a head net or bug jacket.

Life on the River:

The Alaskan wilderness is a vast and varied part of the world with inherent characteristics that you will need to understand before setting out on an extended trip. Safety is of primary concern in these remote regions, as is environmental preservation. Our guides are very experienced in these areas and it is important that you pay attention to the pre-trip safety briefing, as well as advice they may offer throughout the trip.

These time tested tips make our trips run safely and smoothly, please read them carefully. We will review these matters before putting on the river, so please ask for clarification if there is anything you do not understand.

Medical Needs – Please be up front about any medical needs and discuss special medical concerns with the trip leader.

At the Put-in – Be patient with us the first day as we stow everything on the rafts. Choose a guide to ride with for the day and present them with your two dry bags. The last items loaded onto the rafts will be your daypack.

Arriving to Camp – When we arrive at camp the Trip Leader will lay out the camp scene with specific spots for tents, kitchen and toilet facility. Everyone then forms a fire line to help ease the unloading of all the group camping and personal bags. We carry the group gear to the kitchen area then choose a tent site and relax!

Choosing a Campsite – Find a tent site near camp, not too close to the cooking area but not too far away. Avoid obvious game trails, leaving a wildlife corridor open. Try not to destroy vegetation in tent placement, use existing tent spots when available. Also try to use existing trails as you move about camp to minimize impacts.

Tents – Winds can pick up unexpectedly! As you put up your tent use the heavy tent stakes that we supply. Please don't dig a trench around your tent. In the morning, it is a good idea to dry out your tent, but be sure to keep it staked down while drying so it doesn't blow away.

Human Waste – Liquids go into the river and solids go into the portable toilet facility. A private latrine area will be provided. Wash your hands at the hand wash system afterwards. Cleanliness is very important.

Bears – Keep the camp area clean. Pick it up and dispose of any food dropped regardless of how small. If you want to go for a walk, discuss it with a guide first; don't go away from the camp by yourself, hike in groups of at least four people and make noise on hikes, especially in dense brush. If you spot a bear, notify a guide immediately and gather everyone together. In camp, bring any personal food to the kitchen at night for us to store away. Do not have food in or near your tent!

Firewood – Gathering firewood is one of the required camp chores. Please collect only down and dead wood that is the thickness of a wrist or smaller.

Meals – By the end of a long day on the river we all get a little hungry. A table for snacks will be set up as soon as possible and we ask that you don't hover in the kitchen while we are cooking. Once meals are called please wash your hands and proceed to the line.

Dishes – We have a five-bucket dish washing system; organic waste goes in the first bucket, then a warm pre-wash, a hot wash, a hot rinse and a sanitizer. After washing, put your plate, bowls and cups in the dish drying net under the table and leave your utensils in the sanitizing bucket. We welcome your help with cleaning the group dishes.

Garbage – It is essential that everyone understand the need to pick up any items that may fall on the ground. We burn paper garbage, collect metals and aluminum cans and save all other garbage in a collection system of bags.

Mornings – If you are an early riser, you are welcome to quietly get the morning fire going and put the coffee water on. Do check your watch to see what time it is though as the sun sometimes rises at 3:00 AM. Coffee call is a wakeup call, come get a warm drink and then go back to start packing your personal gear. Breakfast call will follow. The guides will begin breaking down the community camp, at which time you should finish packing your bags and tent. Once rafts are loaded, choose a guide to ride with and bring your personal gear.

Personal Hygiene – Hand washing before eating or assisting in food prep and after visiting the toilet facilities is essential as a bug can easily be passed throughout the group in a short time. The usual shower system is the bucket and bowl method. Water will be heated over the fire and poured into a five-gallon bucket. You can then take your bucket and bowl to a private area for an improvised shower/bath.

General Information – It is very important to stay well hydrated, so drink plenty of water. Don't forget to put on sunscreen, the long days and the reflection off the water can be very intense. When you take off your lifejacket, be sure to secure it from blowing away with the sudden winds. We keep a small library of books available for additional education, don't hesitate to ask for reading material.

Hiking – Hikes are lead regularly by guides and all are invited to come along. We ask that you please do not wander off on your own without first telling someone and preferably taking someone with you. Hiking trails should be used when available. Do not take shortcuts especially on switchbacks as this causes erosion. When in open areas without trails try to step on rocks or gravel and avoid moist or vegetated ground.

Wildlife – Wildlife viewing is one of the biggest draws to the outdoors, but careful attention is required to maintain the safety of both people and animals. It is important that we never feed any wild animal even squirrels or birds. Teaching wild animals to associate humans with food can endanger you and the animal.

Cultural Considerations – Native peoples and other explorers are known to have used many of the areas we travel through. It is important that we not disturb any artifacts or cultural sites we encounter.

Wind – Winds can pick up in a matter of seconds and un-skated tents or loose clothing items can be lost. Make sure to secure all belongings and gear before leaving unattended.

Relaxing – Breathe deeply to fill your lungs with the unpolluted air, notice the lack of extraneous sounds, marvel at the spectacular mountains and sky scenes, fall into the relaxing rhythm of the rolling river and finally, enjoy to the fullest every moment of this unique adventure of a lifetime.

River Expedition Equipment List:

On the River

It can't be stressed enough that dressing in layers is the secret to being comfortable on the river. Wear your light layers close to your body and have progressively warmer layers either on you or in your daypack. We strongly urge you to use synthetic, wool or fleece items because they remain warm when wet and dry quickly. It is very difficult to get into your dry bag during the day, so keep your daypack handy with extra socks, clothes, raingear, etc. Store your camera and binoculars in a waterproof container when not in use. Both your daypack and ammo can will be near you on the boat.

The remote and pristine wilderness we will be traveling through is in a temperate rainforest. Rain is an integral part of this unique region and weather can range from horizontal, driving rain to sunny and 75° F. There is no reliable way to predict the weather, therefore it is crucial to prepare for all possibilities.

This is an international trip. We will be passing through Canadian customs. Everyone must bring a current passport. Non U.S. citizens must have a re-entry visa for the U.S. and Canadian visas where applicable.

The following is a list of clothing that we recommend for your expedition.

Base Layers

- 2-3 Sets of light/medium weight synthetic long underwear
- Underwear – as many as you think you will need (non-cotton fabric recommended)
- 1 – 2 Sets of expedition weight tops & bottoms (synthetic or wool)
- 2 – 3 Cotton T-shirts for camp or hikes – not recommended for river days!
- 2 Long sleeve shirts (synthetic or wool)

Outer Layers

- 2 Lightweight pants (fleece, synthetic or wool)
- Shorts – light and quick drying (also nylon pants with zip off legs works well, too)
- Sweater – thick wool or fleece
- Windbreaker jacket (nylon or lightweight Gore-Tex)

Extremities

- 5 – 7 Pairs of socks – Synthetic or wool blend (warm, dry feet are happy feet!)
- 2 Pairs of warm gloves – wool or fleece (we provide a heavy rubber glove for river days)
- Liner glove (thin fleece, synthetic or wool to fit inside the rubber gloves)
- Baseball or brimmed hat (for sun and rain)
- Wool or fleece hat (fleece headbands are great for cold ears)

Foot Gear

- Hiking boots - with good ankle support

- Camp shoes – athletic, running or sport sandals
- We provide rubber boots to be worn on river days

Miscellaneous Necessities

- Passport
- Sleeping bag – rated 10/20° F (complimentary if needed)
- Daypack (1800-2100 cu. in.) lined with a thick plastic compactor bag – this is a must!
- 3 Carabiners – to attach items to the boat (D-shaped metal rings with latch, found at climbing stores)
- Water bottle
- Moisturizing lotion (heavy duty; the silty environment is hard on the skin and hands)
- Sunblock and lip balm (plus a spare)
- Spare glasses or contact lenses
- Sunglasses (“Chums” or “Croakies” to keep them attached to you)
- Insect repellent
- Bug head net
- Thick compactor, garbage bags (to line your daypack)

Recommended Items

- Neck gaiter
- Binoculars and camera
- Personal beverages and alcohol
- Reading material, notebook and pen, cards, neoprene socks & gloves, handi-wipes, wash cloth (or small towel), biodegradable soap, bandana, small flashlight, pocket knife
- Personal favorite snack items

We Supply:

Dry bags – two NRS 2.2 cu. ft. outfitter bags, shared tent, sleeping pad, sleeping bag, rubber boots and felt insoles, rubber gloves, lifejacket, optional camera box (military ammo can).

The two rubber dry bags that we supply are quite large. Clothes are packed into one bag and your sleeping bag, sleeping pad and a few small items will go into the other. These dry bags are not accessible while we are on the river, however your daypack will be. Daily items you will need in your daypack are: hat, gloves, extra socks, warm layers, rain gear, water bottle, sun screen, lip protection, sun glasses, etc. They will stay dry better if you line your daypacks with a thick, plastic compactor garbage bag. Cameras and binoculars can be stored in an optional waterproof ammo can wrapped in a scarf or hat. (Pelican cases are specialized, waterproof boxes for your camera and belongings, if you have one bring it). We will fly any clothing and baggage that doesn't go with you on the river to Juneau where it will be waiting for you upon conclusion of the trip.

VISITOR'S ACKNOWLEDGEMENT OF RISKS – Rafting & Hiking

In consideration of the services of Chilkat Guides, Ltd their officers, agents, employees, stockholders, owners, volunteers, participants and all other persons or entities associated with those businesses (hereafter collectively referred to as "CG") I agree as follows:

Although CG has taken reasonable steps to provide me with appropriate equipment and skilled guides so I can enjoy an activity for which I may not be skilled, CG has informed me that this activity is not without risk. There are certain risks in each activity, including physical, emotional and other injury; illness; paralysis; loss and damage to third parties and to equipment and other property as well as to myself; permanent trauma; and death. CG does not want to frighten me or reduce my enthusiasm for this activity, but believes it is important for me to know in advance what to expect and to be informed of the risks. The following further describes some, but not all, of these risks:

The risks include, among other things, the hazards of walking on uneven terrain; slips and falls; being struck by objects dislodged or thrown from above; using the equipment for the activity; forces of nature, including lightning and weather changes; exposure to insect and animal bites and attacks; cold including hypothermia; drowning; my own condition and any medical or physical condition I might have; the physical condition of other participants; and the physical exertion associated with this activity. The risks of rafting also include the hazards of tides and currents and exposure to the elements.

Furthermore, CG employees have difficult jobs to perform. They seek safety, but they are not infallible. They might be unaware of a participant's fitness or abilities. They might misjudge the weather, the elements or the terrain. They may give inadequate warnings or instructions, and the equipment being used might malfunction. They also might be negligent in other ways.

I am aware that rafting and hiking entail risks of injury and death to any participant. I understand that the description of these risks is not complete and that other unknown or unanticipated risks may result in injury and death. I agree to assume and accept full responsibility for the risks identified herein and those risks not specifically identified. My participation in this activity is purely voluntary; no one is forcing me to participate, and I elect to participate in spite of and with full knowledge of the risks.

I acknowledge that engaging in this activity may require a degree of skill and knowledge different from other activities and that I have responsibilities as a participant. I acknowledge that the staff of CG has been available to explain to me more fully the nature and physical demands of this activity and the risks, hazards and dangers associated with it.

I certify that I am fully capable of participating in this activity. Therefore, I assume and accept full responsibility for myself, including all minor children in my care, custody or control and assume all of the risks for injury, death or loss of personal property and expenses as a result of those risks and dangers identified herein and those risks and dangers not specifically identified, including but not limited to those resulting from my negligence in participating in this activity, and I voluntarily release, forever discharge and shall be estopped from bringing any and all claims, demands and causes of action which are connected with my participation in this activity. In the event that I file a lawsuit against CG I agree to do so solely in the State of Alaska and I further agree that the substantive law of Alaska shall apply in that action without regard to conflict of laws rules.

I agree that if any portion of this agreement is found to be void or unenforceable, the remaining portions shall remain in full force and effect.

I have carefully read, clearly understood and accepted the terms and conditions stated herein and acknowledge that this agreement shall be effective and binding upon me, my heirs, assigns, personal representative and estate and for all members of my family, including minor children.
